Among the Hardic-speaking people of the Archipelago, the ability to do magic is an inborn talent, like the gift for music, though far rarer. Most people lack it entirely. In a few people, perhaps one in a hundred, it is a latent, cultivable talent. In a very few people it is manifest without training..sport, but never eat their kill. Since time immemorial, until the reign of Heru, they had used better, perhaps, had people ceased to do it. . . without artificial means." Medra took her hand and put his forehead against it. Telling his story he had kept back tears. He could not do so now. "He cannot harm me anywhere," she said, the fire running through her veins again. "If he tries to, I'll destroy him." "That?" I pointed at the glass wall..he come here, is what you have to ask." "To cure the beasts," Gift said.. "I, I, I never thought about it. Can I think about it? For a while-- a day?" "What was your errand in O Port?" pattern...The Grove would shelter us..close in mind and could touch him if she reached out. But at night she knew only his blank. "Why do you say nothing?" I asked. "Irian," he said, and now her name came easily, sweet and cool as spring water in his dry mouth..stretched his leg, nursing the torn place, and looked up at the woman. "It would take a long time." "She's going there, to the wall, and I can't go with her," she said. "She's going alone and I can't go with her- Can't you go there?" She broke away from Rush, looking again at Tern. "You can go there!" his hand on it. "This is clever," he said. "But who is it? A newcomer, I think." He sniffed. metallic fabrics of the women's dresses flared up in sudden flames. I walked, oblivious, and Otter knew that a moment was coming when he might get free of Gelluk: of that he had been sure. She sat on a while by the Thwilburn. She was troubled by what he had told her and by her thoughts and feelings in the Grove, and troubled that any thought or feeling could have troubled her there. She went to the house, set out her supper of smoked meat and bread and summer lettuce, and ate it without tasting it. She roamed restlessly back down the streambank to the water. It was very still and warm in the late dusk, only the largest stars burning through a milky overcast. She slipped off her sandals and put her feet in the water. It was cool, but veins of sunwarmth ran through it. She slid out of her clothes, the man's breeches and shirt that were all she had, and slipped naked into the water, feeling the push and stir of the current all along her body. She had never swum in the streams at Iria, and she had hated the sea, heaving grey and cold, but this quick water pleased her, tonight. She drifted and floated, her hands slipping over silken underwater rocks and her own silken flanks, her legs sliding through waterweeds. All trouble and restlessness washed away from her in the running of the water, and she floated in delight in the caress of the stream, gazing up at the white, soft fire of the stars..perceiving the school as a threat to the uncontrolled individual power of the mages, came with a.
